A DARING MIDNIGHT ROBBERY

Frustrated Through the Prompt Action of the Police Department and the Lucky

DISCOVERY OF THE ROBBERS

Just as They Were Emerging From the Store of Work & Co. on the South Side.

Two boys attempted an exceedingly bold robbery on the South Side at midnight, but through the prompt action of the chief of police the pair of youthful criminals are under arrest, and their attempt at robbery foiled.

It was just at midnight when a telephone message was received by Night Lieutenant Dan Ingram, at police headquarters, asking that an officer be sent to the store of F. M. Work & Co., at the corner of Thirty-first and Eoff streets, South Side, where two thieves had effected an entrance a few minutes before.

No officer being available just at the time, Chief Clemens himself responded to the call, and arrived in time to capture the thieves, one of whom had emerged from a cellar-way just as a Mr. Genter was passing the place. Genter promptly took the fellow in charge, and then telephoned to headquarters. The chief, upon his arrival, instituted a search for the other thief, and soon found him hiding in a nearby alley. The fellow captured by the chief is a sixteen-year-old boy named Francis, formerly of Wheeling, who was released from the Pruntytown reform school only last October. The other boy, still younger, said his name was John Harding, and he is believed to be from Pennsylvania and to have escaped from the reform school at Morgantown. Both boys, when captured, had quantities of tobacco and other merchandise stuffed in their pockets.

The robbery was one of great daring, entrance having been effected through a cellar-way on Eoff street that is almost directly under one of the street arc lamps.

The boys will be given a hearing before a justice of the peace to-day.

FOR A UNION PASSENGER TERMINAL

A Wheeling Railroad Man Believes That the Terminal Station Will Be Used

BY ALL THE WHEELING ROADS

Eventually—The Scheme is Feasible. Heavy Passenger Traffic Out of Wheeling.

A Wheeling passenger official who has "called the turn" on several local railroad deals recently, predicts that all the railroads entering Wheeling will within a short time unite in the use of a Union passenger station—which will be on the site of the present Terminal station. As stated exclusively in the Intelligencer two weeks ago, the Baltimore & Ohio has applied to the owners of the Wheeling Terminal—the Pennsylvania—for the privilege of running its passenger trains into the Terminal station. In a few days Cleveland & Pittsburgh passenger trains will be running into this same station, and it is known that the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling will be encouraged to use the Terminal. These in addition to the Wheeling & Lake Erie, which has used the Terminal since its extension to the Ohio river.

Aside from the roads mentioned there remain the Pan Handle and the Ohio River roads, and the Intelligencer's informant is confident that the Pan Handle's passenger trains will be brought into Wheeling via the Terminal at no distant date. He cites the fact that the Pennsylvania people pay out large dividends every year to the outside stockholders in the Pewkey, which is held only by lease, while it is possible to run the trains from Pittsburgh into Wheeling without using the Pewkey branch at all—simply by crossing the river at Steubenville and coming down on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division, entering the city via the recently acquired Terminal. Of course, if this were done, the Pewkey would still be used for local passenger and freight service and possibly for through freight, though it would be feasible to bring in Pennsylvania freights via the Terminal.

The other road entering Wheeling, the Ohio River, could also send its passenger trains into the Terminal station, the tracks of the two connecting on the South Side. If a Union station project is in the wind and it materializes, the change will be greeted with entire satisfaction by the traveling public. Doubtless a larger and more pretentious passenger station would be erected by the Terminal people—in fact a larger building would be absolutely necessary. There is no intimation as to when the Cleveland & Pittsburgh passenger trains will begin coming into Wheeling, but local officials of the Pennsylvania do not believe that the move will be delayed long.

Big Passenger Business.

It is said passenger business in and out of Wheeling and throughout the tristate country has never been so heavy. Passenger Agent Tomlinson, of the Pennsylvania, said yesterday afternoon that the year 1899 was the banner year for the Pan Handle in Wheeling, and yet every month of 1900 so far shows an increase over the same months of the preceding year, and in July, the month just ended, the business of the Pan Handle in Wheeling was the heaviest in the history of the road.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Adopted by the Italian Citizens of This City at a Meeting Last Night.

The death of King Humbert created gloom in the hearts of the former subjects of the Italian monarch living in Wheeling, and expressions of regret and sorrow followed the announcement of his untimely demise, while strong words were used in denouncing his assassin. In order to show their sympathies to the bereaved widow and to the son who succeeds his father on the throne, suitable resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the Italian citizens of Wheeling held last evening. The meeting was largely attended and it was the occasion for appropriate addresses, all couched with earnest tributes to the dead king and his many virtues. It was said of him by several speakers that he was the first to respond in times of disaster and peril and he cared for his most humble subject as a father.

The meeting which was called by Dominick A. Jacovetty, was presided over by that gentleman and after stating the object of the gathering he gave way to others who spoke at length. Before adjourning the following resolutions were adopted, and it was decided to send a telegram of condolence to the royal family in Italy:

Whereas, We, the Italian citizens of Wheeling, have heard with profound regret and sorrow of the assassination of King Humbert, the beloved ruler of the land of our birth, a monarch who was brave, wise and kind, and remembered with pride by the sons of Italy at home and abroad, and

Whereas, We have gathered to take some befitting action in this hour of gloom to all who cherish love and veneration for the dead sovereign; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we deeply deplore the death of the good King Humbert and tender our heartfelt condolences to his bereaved widow, Queen Margherita, to her son, King Victor Emmanuel III, and to the Italian nation in the great loss they have sustained, and we trust that these expressions from over the sea may cheer them in their sad hour of grief.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the Intelligencer, Register and the Evening News.
